Sense Suggestions Given Free
by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

For forty years women suffering from all kinds of female ills have been writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Thus they receive common sense suggestions drawn from a vast volume of experience, and thousands of sick women have been saved from untold suffering, as letters like the following clearly show:—

Newark, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman. Your Sanative Wash is just the thing to overcome female weakness. I have told young mothers as well as older ones about your remedies, and what they have done for me.
I think Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, as my health was very bad when I wrote you, but now I can do my own work and have not had a sick day since I began taking your remedies.
I keep the Compound and Liver Pills on hand all the time."—Mrs. Geo. Thompson, 24 Sherwood Court, Newark, Ohio.

Season of Lent Opens Today

BISHOP SENDS OPEN LETTER TO EPISCOPALIANS

Asks That Lenten Season, Beginning Today, Be Made a Time for Special Prayers

With the commencement today of Lent, Rt. Rev. Henry Bond Restarick, bishop of Honolulu and dean of St.
Andrew's cathedral, has issued the following open letter to the members of his congregation and to tourists of the Episcopal faith who may be visiting in the city:

"Sometimes a strange voice arouses the attention of people — when the voice to which they have been accustomed makes little impression. With this thought, instead of writing a Lenten letter to the people of St. Andrew's Cathedral, I quote one who was a dear, personal friend and a great American churchman, the late Dr. Wm. R. Huntington, long rector of Grace Church, New York. The words are so clear and strong that they will appeal to all who understand in any degree what Lent is.
His words are as follows:

Not Hard to Keep Lent.

"People talk about keeping Lent.

Really, friends, it is not so much a question, Shall we keep Lent? as it is a question, Shall we lose Lent? The church's purpose in ordaining Lent is not to deprive, but to bestow; not to take away, but to aid; not to starve, but to feed. Lent regarded as a sort of ecclesiastical police regulation, is and must always be, a dismal failure.

Lent seen in its true light as a season set apart for the strengthening and refreshing of the soul, is one of the greatest of all imaginable privileges.

For is it not the fact that we need this chance, so opportunely given us, to get away from the unreal, and to hold communion with the real? So use, I pray you, the forty days. Forget the ambitions and the rivalries, the hunger for success, the thirst for praise. Remand them, yes, all of them, to the land of shadows, where they belong. Seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness. All else, if we only knew it, is illusory. God alone is real.

Not Matter of Church-Going.

"The many opportunities of worship have been provided, not in expectation that the same persons will avail themselves of all of them, but rather in the hope that the convenience of all, in the matter of times and seasons, will be met. By no means is Lent wholly a matter of church-going. Find out what helps you most in this endeavor to be real, and make the most of that assistance; follow that gleam. So shall God, in His reality, reveal Himself to you. His child, and give life a meaning which it did not have before. The great thing is to learn to believe and to hope, to believe in God and to hope in God; to be fully persuaded that if we put our whole trust in Him, alike in rough weather and in fair, in the dark as in the daylight, it will surely come out right with us in the end.

"If thou cheerfully bearest the cross," writes a Kemptin from his cell, "the cross will bear thee."

Heed Call to Prayers.

"We may speak in the name way of Lent. If we willingly and without grudging the time spent on it, keep Lent. Lent will keep us; keep us from mistaking the transient for the permanent, the shadows for the real, the things seen and temporal for the things unseen and eternal. Thus safeguarded, we can defy cynicism and hold melancholy at arm's length. For, true, though it be that man walketh in a vain shadow and disquieteth himself in vain, my hope, Lord, is in Thee, and may psalm, 'In Domino con-fido.'"

"In these troublous times the Lenten call to prayer should be heeded and we wish to make this season a time of special prayers and interces-sions. We hope that the people will unite with us in making this season a time of prayer."

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR HAWAIIAN WHO CLAIMED
DESCENT FROM ROYALTY

Funeral services for Solomon Lehuanui K. Palehoholani, who claimed to be a descendant of Kamehameha the Great, were to be held this afternoon from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock at the Puna cemetery. Palehoholani died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home in Liliha street. He was 72 years old.

Palehoholani was born in Hilo, Hawaii, on February 11, 1844, and, during his lifetime, saw five kings and one queen ruling the islands, and later the formation of a republic and then annexation. He is survived by one child, Mrs. John K. Noley of North Kula street.

The services today were to be attended by officers and members of Na'li Kumu o Hawaii, and of the other Hawaiian societies of which Palehoholani was a member.

California has 239 millionaires or multimillionaires. The state ranks seventh, Sacramento figures show.
This is estimated by counting 5 per cent as an average rate on investments, $50,000 being the average annual income on $1,000,000. One man in the state is worth at least $10-000,000, admitting an annual income of $500,000.

The American Railway Association reported a net surplus of cars as of Jan. 1, of 46,995.
